(Exceptions are made for students without sufficient funds to pay tuition. ) SEARING & SUGARING POTATOES Always TASTERS 1. Is your potato soggy? Rub the skin gently with your fingers. A bruised potato has a lower sugar content than one that feels hard to the touch. Taste a potato to judge its sweetness. 2. NEVER SKIMP ON QUALITY! As a rule, we do not wash, as this loosens the skin and makes it difficult to peel. It is much easier and we get a better eating experience. 3. BEAUTY SHOPPING! If you see long, dark-brown lines on the outer skin of a potato, check the size of the chip. Long chips are more likely to be hard than smooth. Smooth chips are more flavorful. 4. RIPPING OFF THE SKIN! If the skin has been removed, a large chip will stay soft. Of course, tastes will vary! 5. THE LITTLE VARIETY... The variety usually described as small, round, medium-sized or long, lumpy or smooth, etc., is not absolute. The variety may be of any size (within large age or maturity tolerance limits), lumpy, smooth, or round. In any event, look for small or big. big = firm, lumpy = sloppy. big = smooth, lumpy = soft. In choosing the new potato harvest, keep in mind that its size may not be as important as its consistency and smoothness. The size of the potato is not so much a characteristic as a means of preservation. Smoothest, creamiest potatoes are often the tiny ones. Moreover, they are prone to chill injury. They also store well. When picking the potatoes for new-season use, look for handsized or even smaller. SOY BEAN SALAD Prepare a ripe tomato salad
