This form requires user to create a different number of objects for each different action. This is a form that should also be used in two other pages. To keep it simple, let's call these pages A and B. My current routing configuration looks like this: `page_new: path: /profile/page/create defaults: { _controller: AcmeDemoBundle:Page:create, id: new }` `page_show: path: /profile/page/{id} defaults: { _controller: AcmeDemoBundle:Page:show, id: new }` `page_create_edit: path: /profile/page/create/edit/{id} defaults: { _controller: AcmeDemoBundle:Page:edit, id: new }` As you can see, these pages have the same path. I don't like this. I would like my route to be something like this: `/profile/page/create/edit/1` Is it possible to make such a routing configuration in symfony2? Thank you.

A: It is not possible with the default routing but you can always specify your route yourself: `/profile/page/create/edit/{id}` But I guess you also don't like that as well. Now I'd probably make this structure instead: `page_new: path:`
