I have an integer list, which contains a number of numbers in them: [1,2,3,4,5] I want to change these, so every integer gets replaced with a list containing those integer values. Like this: [['1','2','3','4','5']] Any ideas how I would do this? A: Use a list comprehension >>> lst = [1,2,3,4,5] >>> list(map(list, lst)) ['1', '2', '3', '4', '5'] The present disclosure relates generally to semiconductor devices, and more specifically, to photomasks and methods of fabricating the same. Semiconductor devices may include photomasks having a pattern layer that contains a pattern formed from a photoresist. The photoresist may have a uniform thickness, and the thickness of the photoresist may be uniform across the photomask. The uniform thickness of the photoresist may provide a uniform thickness for the pattern formed in the photoresist. However, the uniform thickness of the photoresist may be difficult to achieve in areas of the photoresist where the pattern is included, since such areas may contain greater or lesser thickness than other areas in the photoresist.Q: Wordpress 301 redirect to sub folder does not work I know this is a very basic question but I have been struggling with this issue for ages.
